Summary

Transitioning from marketing to web development, I bring a diverse skill set of customer-centric approach, analytical skills, project management, creativity, and a passion for problem-solving. I am currently learning JavaScript and React to develop high-quality and user-friendly solutions, and I am actively seeking opportunities to leverage my extensive experience and contribute to innovative projects. With over 7 years of proven expertise in digital marketing and brand management, I offer a solid foundation and valuable insights to enrich any team. I am also interested in working cross-functionally on growth hacking projects.
